

New Partner in Argentina

George Walther-Meade | May 15, 2018

We are excited to announce two new partners in Buenos Aires which expands our LATAM footprint from Mexico to Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru!

The QualiFind Group is proud to announce the addition of a new partner firm in Argentina to our global alliance with IRC Global Executive Search Partners. The new IRC member firm operates under the brand - HighFlow and is based in Buenos Aires.

The firm is led by two partners - Federico Carrera and Mauro L'Estrange. Prior to starting his career in search, Mauro L'Estrange gained extensive experience with multinational organizations in the financial sector. His search career includes managing a start-up for a global search firm in Uruguay and the Finance and Banking Practice Group for a regional firm. In his current role, he specializes in serving clients within the finance and banking sector.

Federico Carrera held a range of commercial sales and marketing roles with multinationals and SMEs before transitioning to executive search and recruitment. He led recruitment teams within two other firms before partnering with Mauro to launch HighFlow.

Federico stated, "By joining IRC Global Executive Search Partners, we will be able to help our clients find strategic candidates all over the world. Also, by standardizing service levels and the sharing of best practices, we trust that IRC will allow us to reach our objectives and those of our clients."

Mauro and Federico join thirteen other executive search and recruitment consultants that The QualiFind Group can leverage for client's with talent needs in Latin America. Warren Carter added, "The IRC credo - Globally Connected and Locally Committed, was just made stronger with the addition of these two successful high energy search consultants in Argentina."

"The South American region is such a key part of the global economy and Argentina has always been a key country within the Americas. We are excited to welcome our newest partners onboard," concludes Rohan Carr - President of the IRC Executive Board.
